GESHIDOCON

CUTTING THROUGH THE HYPE.
GETTING S#!T DONE.

GESHIDOCON 2026 is about cutting through the AI and agility hype and focusing on what really matters: redesigning how people, technology and ways of working deliver measurable value. It is practical, execution-led and built for leaders who are serious about outcomes, not theatre. This is where transformation becomes real, with insights, case studies and conversations grounded in delivery, accountability and results.

After leaving a multinational company, he launched a restaurant inspired by a fictional brand from a popular TV advert, earning national attention and building a successful business.

Rather than losing talented employees to competitors, companies should create a culture that encourages intrapreneurship—empowering employees to think and act like entrepreneurs while remaining part of the business.

BUT WAIT THERE IS MORE...

Extend your GESHIDOCON experience beyond the main event with an exclusive second day on Thursday, 6 August at our Rivonia offices, the birthplace of GESHIDO®.

Designed for practitioners and teams looking to go deeper, Day 2 will offer a curated programme of smaller-format sessions focused on practical exploration of key topics. Expect workshops, demonstrations and interactive learning experiences aligned to our core themes of business agility, leadership, product development, technology and organisational change.

As the programme is being curated, delegates will have the opportunity to share which workshops, sessions or topics they would most like to explore, helping us shape a more relevant and valuable experience.

With attendance capped at just 150 people, this add-on offers a more focused environment for deeper learning and discussion.

This exclusive Day 2 ticket is available at an additional cost of R1,500 ex VAT. per person.
